My Dear Parish Family:

This week's readings are both reassuring and challenging for each one of us in our own particular way. In the past months, and most recently weeks, as Christians we have had some really hard challenges placed before us. Recent decisions from the Supreme Court have stunned many religions, but the most apparent is the Catholic Church. How we respond, in action and in word, to these rulings should be based on our faith...our beliefs as disciples of Jesus Christ.

In today's first reading from Jeremiah, we witness God chastising the shepherds who misled their flock, driving the sheep away from His pasture. God reassures that He will gather the remnant of His flock and return them to their meadow where they will increase and multiply.

Saint Paul's letter to the Ephesians reminds us that we are saved through the blood of Christ. It is through Jesus' death and resurrection that all divisions among people have been destroyed. Saint Paul writes that Jesus "broke down the dividing wall of enmity."

In Mark's Gospel, the Shepherd's compassion prevails above personal needs. Jesus saw His apostles were tired from their mission work and planned for them to rest in a quiet place. But, when Jesus saw the crowds He recognized them as "sheep without a shepherd" and took them into His fold.

It's amazing how Scripture from over two thousand years ago continues to mirror the actions of our world in 2015. In Jeremiah's writing, God rebukes the shepherds who mislead their sheep. Every minute of every day someone, somewhere, is being manipulated to believe that something evil is actually good. Satan does his work systematically and purposefully. One by one, the flock begins to erode and scatters from its fold.

Jesus gave His time and attention to the crowd. Everyone came with their own story, their own pain. There are people with whom we share the Bread and Body of our Lord, week after week, who come with their own silent sufferings. And then there are the victims of Satan's deceiving works, who have yet to realize that there is a God who truly loves them. As Christ's disciples, what do we do? Saint Paul clearly tells us that it was Jesus who destroyed the walls of hatred. If in fact we desire to be disciples of Jesus Christ, there is no place for contempt or hatred; we are committed to being good stewards standing for what is right, but always with the love and compassion of the One we follow, Jesus Christ.

What you and I say to our brothers and sisters, whether it be face to face or through social media, we must remember that Jesus opened His arms to the people who were before Him. Jesus did the hard part for us, He broke down the walls of hatred by suffering, dying and resurrecting. As stewards of His great gift of the Church, we are empowered to continue to build His Church. Let us do so with dignity and respect. The challenges are many, but it is always in and through God that we are reassured that whatever we do and whatever we say, it is done with humility in His Name, Jesus Christ.
