My Dear Parish Family:

I wonder how many of us have thought of ourselves of one day being a saint. I'm sure as children we had visions of being a firefighter, nurse, or even an astronaut...but a saint, oh, no we could never be that holy. Vision, however, can often be blurred, especially when we look at ourselves very closely in the mirror. What do we see....who do we see?

Today's readings open our eyes for us to know who we really are in the eyes and heart of God. In the Book of Revelation, Saint John writes about those who have been chosen and marked with the "seal of the living God".....that symbol being the cross.

In the first letter of Saint John, he tells us that we "may be called the children of God." God shows His love by calling us His children, but it does not mean that we will be exempt from knowing the cross. Jesus carried the cross to His death; He was a man of justice, love, compassion and sacrifice. People then (and today) didn't understand Him. Many won't understand us either if we indeed follow Him.

One of the greatest gifts we have been given is in Matthew's Gospel, Jesus speaking on the Mount of Beatitude, God's vision for us as we journey toward eternal life:

Poor in Spirit: I have come to the place where I feel accepted by God when I feel most unacceptable to myself. I recognize my need for God and am coming to know what humility means. I know that I do not have to earn His love with wealth, status or spiritual sophistication.

Mourn: I have come to the place where I can really feel the empty places in my life. I can let others know when I am hurting and share the grief of others without embarrassment. I can weep like Jesus did.

Meek: I have come to a place where I have given the control of my life to God. I no longer have to be combative, angry or vindictive. I now stand firm for the principles I've accepted in the teachings of Jesus Christ.

Hunger and thirst for righteousness: I have come to the place where I want to know God and His will for my life. I see the importance of God's will for the world; I long to be a humble worker in His vineyard.

Merciful: I have come to the place where I can enter into the feelings of someone who is hurting, lonely, or distressed and feel their pain. God has given me sensitivity for the suffering of others.

Pure of heart: I have come to the place where I can be completely open and honest with God and others. I don't have to pretend to be what I'm not.

Peacemakers: I have come to the place where I really work to keep peace when there is discord around me. I deal with anger and disagreements immediately and don't allow them to fester.

Persecution: I have come to the place where I know what I am living for, and for this cause I am not afraid to suffer and, if need be, die. I am willing to stand alone for what is right and accept criticism without feeling self-pity or self-righteousness.

On this Solemnity of All Saints we honor all saints, both known and unknown. As we look in the mirror, may our vision become clear as we see ourselves as God's child, and who one day will stand before Him in His Kingdom. The Kingdom has already begun for us here on earth. God has given us the way.

In Christ,
Anne DeMarco
Pastoral Associate

Are you interested in the Catholic Faith?

Holy Rosary has begun a new journey in faith to share the richness of the Catholic Church and our parish family. We invite you to learn what the Church teaches and be introduced to some of our parish members. These also are opportunities for you, and others whom you may wish to invite, to ask those perplexing and difficult questions you may have about the Church. These gatherings are for inquirers and are open to those who are not baptized, as well as those who are baptized Christians from Protestant or Evangelical backgrounds, or baptized Catholic but have not received Eucharist and Confirmation.

The sessions are on Tuesday evenings from 7:00-9:00 p.m. in the Adult Ed Room of the school located next to Holy Rosary Church. Please contact Father Joseph Previte or Anne DeMarco if you have questions or would like further information at 216-421-2995.

Dying Catholic: Medical and Moral Issues At the End of Life – Special Presentation at Holy Rosary on November 11th

The end of life (which can happen at any time of life!) is part of our journey to God; but in the modern world, it can bring with it complex and puzzling decisions that were not faced by earlier generations.

When can one insist on treatment – when can one reject it? Is organ donation morally good, bad, or neutral? How do doctors define death nowadays? What do the terms ordinary and extraordinary treatment mean? Why have some countries, and U.S. states, legalized assisted suicide, and what should a Catholic think about it? What is euthanasia? Is a Living Will a good thing? What can you do if your Catholic values are not acknowledged – or understood – by medical personnel?

These are some of the issues that will be addressed by Fr. Joseph Koopman, Assistant Professor of Moral Theology at St. Mary Seminary. His talk will be given in Holy Rosary's Church Hall on Wednesday night, November 11, at 7:00 p.m. There will be plenty of opportunities for you to ask questions also. Please come!

Sponsored by the Holy Rosary Respect Life Ministry – All are welcome and refreshments will be served.

“Workers must be paid a wage which allows them to live a truly human life and to fulfill their family obligations in a worthy manner.” – Mater et Magistra, Pope John XXIII

Today, over 2 billion people live on less than $2.00 per day, and millions of small-scale producers around the world have been plunged into poverty by international market forces over which they have no control. Pope John Paul II reminds us, “The primary basis of the value of work is man himself,” not the items he or she produces.

But how can we be sure that the farmer has been paid a fair wage? That slave and child labor have not contributed to the low prices we enjoy? The answer is that unless we know where the coffee, tea, and cocoa come from, we can't be sure.

Fair Trade products guarantee prices that enable producers to cover their costs and provide a very modest yet decent standard of living for their families. By purchasing fairly traded foods and handcrafts, we are making a conscious choice to buy from poor people in a way that promises to help lift them out of poverty.

On Sunday, November 22, from 9:00-1:00 p.m., Newman Campus Ministry will hold a Fair Trade Sale in the Parish Hall. Please support Catholic Relief Services and the student Retreat and Mission Trip Scholarship Fund!
